Yell April DIVIUDITUS State, in delrying, has already had the effect our expe et calling attention to the various matters or are generally good, and we believe a connected with the best methods of management of milets nows for the largest amount of profit. Many farmers who farhish cream for the creamery have discovered for the first time that there is a wonderful difference in the amount of cream Arocatock Fortons Grange Mert meet, ob sired from the same number of cows. ing with Caribou Grange, Saturday, April In many instances no account has ever 20 been kept of the amount of butter and cream being received from their herds. Now when the creem is being sent to the butter factories, an exact imeasurement is tween the real and imaginary amount their cows are producing. But the Popular noof farmers are not in the habit of en-gaging in an enterprise and losing their temper or their patience before they have given it the most careful and thorough icial. The patrons of the Banger Cream-ery are showing a disposition to look into every interest connected with the dairy-ing business. The best byceds whether thereughbred or grades—bow to cross with best results—bow to feed and care for them, and how se care for, sere and make the most of the dressing. They are keeping separate accounts of each cow's product de milk and cream, and those which fall to furnish the proper amount, when propenly ted and cared for, will quickly be turned into best and others will take their places. The manure b being carrfully saved had the results of the increase of crops upon land where applied is being noted, and no one has the east doub, that in the end the results will WHOLESALE PRODUCE MARKET. be most susprising and satisfactory.

GOOD COWS THE CHEAPEST. No man who is obliged to work for a siving can afford to keep a cheap cow, a cow of poor quality. Paying from $95 to $35 for such an animal, he gots one that will supply the family with exough milk is a profitable one, but how much more or even $100; for an extra good cow, for it due care la given to the spimal's bealth, would be very much greate then with an inferior an mai. The extra mills of the high-priced dow would pay for the extra feed of the larger and better noimal, and leave a handsome profit besides. The profit of the operation is all red profit, and no small account should be made of the greater satisfaction and pleasure that is from fell milk-pells then from those paif full; from Anerows than from serabs. If it will pay to keep any now at all it will sucely pay to keep the best. There are grade cows with records of four thousand quarts of milk per annum, and in some natances they have reached five thousand quarts, while the ordinary, oow scarcely ver resches fifteen hundred quarts whi for sale; while the extra good four thou-sand-quest cow leaves twenty-five hundred

VALUE OF THE DESIGNATION. Carefully conducted experiments show that a cow of the average a ze will void about sixty founds of minume in a day. pore than three cords, weighing over ten tone in a year. It is the opinion of many good cultivators that three loads of monk of a good quality mixed with one load of effective for top dressing mesdows as the cow-dung itself. If this were done we ure is quite as valuable as the solids. If muck or some good absorbent, it would double the pile, or be equal to twenty-four Spread upon two scree of rundown mow per acre, it would increase the crop probfirst year, and the effects of it would be sen in increased grops for six or seven ears longer. In those two acres it makes all the difference between profitab 6 and tuprofitable farming for six years at least. This compost, if so d, is worth $4.00 per cord or $96, but used or the bay field it would produce buch more in successive crops of her. The attendant shows what may be done with milch cows to increase the home supply of fertilisers.

Mousture, air, and a proper degree of temperature are desential to the germina-tion of seeds. The first act of the seed, after being placed in the ground, is to also after being placed in the ground, is to all after being placed in the ground placed in the germination cannot take place without it. Phere must be a certain amount of moisture, but not too much, as this would excude an equally important agent—air without the pressure of which, germanati esunot take place. The temperature varies with the kind of seed. Many garden seeds will germinate at ten degrees short-the Ti 15 | Mulic uu iib 1110, iresing point, while-others require still Every Tuesdays and Fridays freezing point, while-others require some freezing point, before they will start degrees higher, before they will start at all.
